Product code: SM03456

This simulator is composed of a soft part representing the skin, under which a rigid plate is attached to protect the carrier from any possible sting resulting from an incorrect gesture.

Main advantages:

- The model is held around the neck and waist of a person with adjustable straps.
- It allows practicing care procedures on an implanted port.
- The fact that it can be worn by a person increases considerably the realism of the exercise, as it adds the possibility to discuss with the “patient”, and to feel his movements and breathing.

The implanted port and the blood bag are currently not supplied, but can be ordered separately if needed.
